Description

It has two posts with wide bases and, between them, a system of hinged bars like an accordion. Pull one post and the barrier opens up to 230 cm. Push it back and it closes to 15 cm, small enough to keep against a wall or put in a car boot.

What it is for

It quickly closes a passage: the door of a room where work is going on, an aisle in a warehouse, a lane in a car park, the area around an open manhole. Its job is to keep out people who have no business being there.

Visibility

The posts and bars carry 12 reflective films and 48 reflective strips, yellow and white. When it is open, the crossed bars look like a reflective lattice along the whole length.
